

---

FRANCOIS BERGERON, UQAM

Exploiting virtual backgrounds for livelier presentations

In Zoom based presentations, one may readily turn the virtual background into a slide projector. This allows a direct interaction between the presenter and the material presented, while staying very simple to set up. I will explain how to do this, and illustrate. In the discussion period, I will briefly mention that other more flexible approaches do exist (Zoom+OBS). However, they are rather more technical in their implementation.