
MIROSLAV LOVRIC, McMaster University

My path to (virtual) happiness

I will outline how my thinking about the differential geometry course I'm teaching in the Fall has changed as I've been learning more and more about online/virtual (whichever term you wish). At the end of the day, what brought sunshine to my life was not zoom, or teams, or crowdmark, but Math.