YIQIANG Q. ZHAO, School of Mathematics and Statistics, Carleton University
Tail Asymptotics and Block-Form Compensation Algorithm for Parallel Systems

Using the example of join-the-shortest-response-time model, we try to present the general idea of the block-form compensation algorithm for parallel systems and to address the connection between stationary tail asymptotics and the initial values for the implementation of the algorithm.