

---

GREGORY LAWLER, University of Chicago
Random fractals from statistical physics

I will survey a number of interesting fractal subsets arising as scaling limit of models in statistical physics. There will be a focus on the recent interest in Minkowski content as the appropriate fractal measure on random sets.