
GIANG TRAN, University of Waterloo

Epidemiological Predictive Modelling using Delayed Time Embedding

In this talk, we will present a new method to predict the infectious using sparse random feature models. The model is motivated by Taken's delay embedding theorem and the theoretical guarantee of sparse random features. The proposed model outperforms the benchmark on various real datasets, including COVID19, Ebola, and Flu datasets.