

---

KYNE SANTOS, Toronto Metropolitan University

Math In Drag

What do math and drag have in common? At first glance, not much, but in this talk I'll share my story of living a double life solving equations by day and performing in drag bars at night, and how it led me to becoming social media's favourite math teaching drag queen. Discover how math and drag are woven together by creativity, confidence, and most importantly, fun.