

---

JOY MORRIS, University of Lethbridge

Making your academic job application stand out

I will provide an overview of the typical components of an academic job application in Canada (very similar to the USA but quite different from some other countries). I will briefly discuss what should be included in each component, and how to make your application stand out from other applications. There will be lots of time for questions, answers, and interactive discussion.