
JESSE MASON & ERIC NASLUND, University of Northern British Columbia
Student Panel on Creativity

The session organizers posed the questions below to some students. The panelists give their responses to the questions.

What were the most creative things an instructor asked you to do in a class?

How did you and the other students react to these requests? Did you enjoy doing them? What did you learn from them? Has your opinion of the activities changed between when you did them and now?

Is there something that you were never asked to do that you would have enjoyed doing?