
DAVE SAUNDERS, University of Waterloo
Mathematics of Credit Risk Capital in the Trading Book

As part of the regulatory response to the global financial crisis, the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision has revised its rules for determining regulatory capital for credit risk in a bank's trading book. I will discuss mathematical problems related to the calculation of capital under the new regulations.