ALEX WALDRON, Stony Brook University
Yang-Mills flow in dimension four

Among the classical geometric evolution equations, YM flow is the least nonlinear and best behaved. Still, in the critical dimension, curvature concentration is a subtle problem. I'll discuss my proof of long-time existence, and time permitting, describe the infinite-time picture.