
GARY MACGILLIVRAY, University of Victoria

Mentoring undergraduates in research

The following questions will be discussed. What does mentoring mean? What does a mentor do? Who are the students and how do you come to work with them? What are the learning outcomes? How will you work together? How is the project chosen? What assures that the project is feasible and that progress can be made? What constitutes a successful outcome? Is it research?