SHIRA ZERBIB, Iowa State University
Piercing convex sets with hyperplanes

We discuss the number of hyperplanes needed to pierce a finite family of convex sets in $\mathbb{R}^d$ with a given matching number or other local intersection properties.