

---

JOHN FRIEDLANDER, University of Toronto

Sifting Short Intervals

We discuss some very old work of the speaker and some recent developments thereof obtained in joint work with Henryk Iwaniec. We apply sieve methods to study the number of primes and almost-primes in “most” short intervals. In particular, we obtain bounds which seem likely to be optimal as to the length of the intervals.