
DR. GAIL WOLKOWICZ, McMaster University

Attempts at Understanding the Dynamics of Interacting Populations

Mathematical models will be discussed that explore the dynamics induced by population interactions. In certain cases, the introduction of model refinements can be shown to dramatically change the possible range of dynamics. Various applications will be considered.