

---

ARNO BERGER, University of Alberta

Digits and dynamics - an update

This talk presents a selection of results concerning the distribution of significant digits and significands, with an emphasis on data generated by dynamical processes (deterministic or random, linear or nonlinear, discrete or continuous). Several intriguing questions emerge naturally, pertaining to analysis, probability and number theory. (Based on joint work with G. Eshun, S. Evans, and T. Hill.)