DMITRY EVDOKIMOV, University of Ottawa
Computational aspects of Optimal Transport: classical and quantum

In this talk, I will discuss the computational aspects of the classical and quantum optimal transport problems. Starting from the entropy-regularized Kantorovich problem and Sinkhorn algorithm implementations, I proceed with a quantum analog of this problem and show the experiments for solving it in the particular case of Gaussian states.