

---

GAIL WOLKOWICZ, McMaster University

Predator-prey models with time delay in the conversion process

The dynamics of the classical predator-prey model and the predator-prey model based in the chemostat are studied and compared to see whether delay in the conversion process can lead to sustained oscillatory behaviour, when no such behaviour is possible when delay is ignored.