

---

STEVE FURINO, University of Waterloo
A Generation of Teaching Proofs

Teaching beginning mathematicians how to formalize their arguments and represent them in ways used by professional mathematicians is hard. I will offer some reflections on how we teach proofs at Waterloo to 1600 incoming students, and how the students, their backgrounds and the University have changed in the 25 years I have been teaching.