
ANTHONY BONATO, Ryerson University
Vertex Pursuit Games on Graphs

In vertex pursuit games such as Cops and Robbers, we consider simplified, combinatorial models for the detection or neutralization of an adversary's activity on a network. The mini-course will give a brief overview of this emerging area of graph theory, highlighting recent results and emphasizing open problems.