MARIO SCHULZ, Queen Mary University of London
Free boundary minimal surfaces in the unit ball

The study of extremals for Steklov eigenvalues has revitalised the theory of free boundary minimal surfaces. One of the most basic open questions can be phrased as follows: Can a surface of any given topology be realised as a free boundary minimal surface in the Euclidean unit ball? We will answer this question for surfaces with connected boundary and arbitrary genus.