
PARKER GLYNN-ADEY, University of Toronto (UTSC)
Supporting A Departmental Culture of Undergraduate Research

Research, at any level, does not occur in a vacuum. It is an organic process rooted in the local culture. In this talk, I describe a pair of initiatives at UTSC that support undergraduate research: The $U(T)$ -Mathazine and Undergraduate Seminar. After recounting their histories, I describe how they support a culture of undergraduate research and how to go about starting similar initiatives at your institution.